Who we are

HeartKids is the only national profit for purpose charity dedicated to supporting children, teens and adults affected by congenital heart disease all across Australia.

We also fund life-saving research, provide information and advocate for the families' needs.

Our support is a commitment for life, because there is no cure. People with congenital heart disease face unique challenges for their entire lives.

Every day in Australia,
8 babies are born with heart disease.
That's 3,000 babies
each year.

Our motivation

- Congenital heart disease a leading cause of death of Australian babies.
- Sadly, 4 lives are lost each week.
- There is no known cure.
- There are 64,000 children, teens and adults living with congenital heart disease in Australia.
- Improved treatments and outcomes mean there are now more Australian adults living with congenital heart disease than children.

Our work, our impact

HeartKids' work is outcome focused and demonstrates real impact for families and for the community. Specifically, we:

- Advocate for the needs of people with congenital heart disease, their families and carers
- Provide quality information to guide families on their whole life journey
- Drive world class research into the causes, treatment and management of congenital/childhood heart disease; committing over $3.5 million to date
- Deliver high quality support services via all major Australian children's hospitals and in the community.
